

Artistic Director and Chief Executive Officer Dublin Municipal Theatre @ Smock Alley

Dublin Municipal Theatre is a new and exciting cultural initiative based in the historic Smock Alley building at 6-7 Exchange Street Lower. With a rich history dating back to the 17th century, Smock Alley Theatre, which was restored as a theatre in 2012 is now set to enter a new chapter as Dublin Municipal Theatre (DMT), supported by Dublin City Council, Temple Bar Cultural Trust, and the Arts Council. DMT aims to build upon this heritage, creating a vibrant, inclusive, and innovative space for contemporary theatre that resonates with audiences.

The newly formed Board are seeking an experienced and dynamic Artistic Director and CEO to lead Dublin Municipal Theatre through an exciting period of transition and development. This is a rare opportunity to shape the future of an iconic venue and establish a cultural institution that will contribute to Dublin's artistic landscape.

This is a role that is suited to someone who has a strong track record of professional theatre production across a diverse range of productions, understands programming and audience development, and can lead an organisation having gained relevant management experience with responsibility for budgets, contracts and the performance of teams.

The successful candidate will bring artistic vision, excellent leadership skills, and the ability to realise the ambition of a new strategy for this venue in the cultural landscape of Dublin.
